Creating and editing evaluation questions
You can use the Course Evaluation system to create and edit evaluation questions for the courses you teach. If you’re authorized to do so, a “My Evaluation Questions” link appears at the top of your My Course Evaluations page, as shown here:

Choose the correct term—your courses will show up on the right side

To add evaluation questions for your courses:
1. Click the “My Evaluation Questions” link to go to the question editor page. This page allows you to create and edit questions you want to appear on one or more of your course evaluations for a specified term.
2 Choose the term you want to create questions for. By default, the system presents your course information for the current term, but you can change the term to add questions for another term. To do so:
   a Choose the term from the drop-down list. The list includes only current and future terms that have been defined by your Course Evaluation System Administrator.
   b Click the “create/edit questions” button.

3 Create a question:
   a Enter the text of the question in the Question Text box. Only Likert questions (rating scale) are supported.
   b Enter an abbreviation for the question that you want displayed in evaluation reports.
   c Check the courses this question applies to.
   d Click the “Save” button. The question you created now appears in the Your Courses area of the page below each of the courses you selected in step c.

4 Repeat step 3 for each additional question you wish to create.

To edit the text or change the presentation order of an evaluation question:

Once you’re created evaluation questions, you can edit the question text of each as needed and, for courses with multiple questions, change the presentation order of the questions.

1 Click the “edit question” button next to the question you want to edit.

2 To change the question text:
   a Click the “edit text” button.
   b Edit the text.
   c Click the “Save” button.
Right now we have two types of questions available—an open-ended question type, and a five point rating scale from Strongly Agree (SA) to Strongly Disagree (SD). Here are some sample questions.

Thus, frame your questions appropriately. Rating questions should be stated in the positive about the course, instruction, materials, student, etc. to which the student can respond in agreement or disagreement.

If you run into difficulties, or experience problems with some aspect of the system, please let us know at onlineevals@boisestate.edu
